

Hi, I'm Olivia. I'm originally from Washington DC and right now I _____ (love / live) in London. And my question is, what is something that is a sign _____ (of / at) the times?

For me, it's the video and the _____ (whole / hole) trend, tube girl. I dunno if you guys have _____ (seen / saw) it, but basically it's this girl who's _____ (records / recording) herself on the tube dancing and singing, and there's a _____ (bunch / brunch) of wind blowing in her face, and the dance is _____ (quite / quiet) brave. It's not something I would want to do _____ (in / on) public. And everybody in the background's watching _____ (them / her). And of course it went viral because of _____ (what / how) shocking it was. And then because of that, she got lots of _____ (work / worry) and now there's all these videos you _____ (see / seen) of her in public having a phone and all these different _____ (angels / angles) and it looks really, really, really _____ (cold / cool) on the video camera, but it _____ (looks / look) really stupid when you watch it _____ (live / love) in public.

And you see her doing this around a _____ (batch / bunch) of stars at really important events, at fashion _____ (shows / show) and seeing how stupid she looked in real _____ (life / live). But how cool the videos looked on her phone _____ (make / made) me think of, wow, it really shows, it's a _____ (sign / sing) of the times that how you look online is now so _____ (many / much) more important than how you look on _____ (rare / real) life because people place so much _____ (wait / weight) on your online presence. And that's something that's changed only _____ (recent / recently). It was never like this before, that people _____ (care / cure) more about their online _____ (image / imagine) than their in-person image. So, that's what I _____ (thought / think) is a sign of the _____ (times / time).
